A NEW SPEEDWAY FLYER.

HIRAM HOLLIS BRINGS A ROAN MARE DOWN FROM JEFFERSON COUNTY. She is Expected to Trim Some of the Low-Record Performers When the Fall Driving Season Begins-John Hoffman is Thrown

From His Wagon, but Is Not Injured. Four weeks ago Hiram Hollis journeyed to Jafferson county on a still hunt for a horse that could give the Speedway "brush brigade" something to do. He looked over several that appeared to be good prospects and his choice rested on a very dark roan mare, so dark that at a short distance she looks like a brown. She was the newest thing on the Speedway yesterday. Mr. Hollis had her hooked to a ligh-wheel top buggy, but did not attempt to show her speed, as he intends to work her easy and key her up to her best form for a "go" with the top-notch flyers in the fall. Her name is Blue Bells. She is a six-year-old, by Call's Clay, a son of Henry Clay, dam by Ethan Allen: second dam by American Star. She is a wellurned little mare. On a jog she is inclined to mix the pacing gait a trifle, but is a square goodgoing trotter at speed. Although Blue Bells never has been driven even a trial mile, Mr. Hollis says he has ridden fast enough behind her to satisfy him that she will be able to trim a few of the low-record performers when the autumn driving begins.

Excellence, 2:18%. F. G. Schmidt's crack pacer, was going as well yesterday as he ever did. He finished two or three brushes with credit and was making a gallant effort for another when a sprinkling cart compelled him to pull up. He had started down from Dyckman street with Henry Zahn, behind Dundess, 2:23%, and they were making a pretty contest of it, when the sprinkler loomed up in front of Mr. Schmidt and he had either to pull up or run into it. Ben Lichtenberg, with his bay pacer. Robert C., 2:11%, started down from the upper end of the drive on even terms with Excellence to settle a long standing argument as to the speed merits of the horses, but for some reason Robert C. was pulled up and dropped out of the race before reaching the bend.

Excellence had constituted.

Excellence had occasion to show his speed, however, when he fell across Capt. C. H. Mcponald with the bay pacing gelding Piney, 21234, owned by Dr. Fuller of Brooklyn. They got away from the Dyckman street end of the drive on very even terms for a Speedway start, and went to the bend at a rattling pace, almost head and head. Before reaching the point of rocks, with Excellence a shade the better of it, he went of his feet and Piney went to the front, where he remained only a few seconds, as the black gelding quickly caught his stride and won out handly.
One of the most amusing brushes of the day

black gelding quickly caught his stride and won out handily.
One of the most amusing brushes of the day was when Alex Newburger, who appeared on the drive for the first time since he was wrecked a week ago, started his pacing mare Smilax, 222½, against his roan trotter, Newburger, 2:15½, the horse that spilled him on the road last week. The bench-jumping roan was booked to a bike cart and driven by a young colored man, while smilax pulled a one-man bike wagon. The chestnut mare can get away like a shot and before the roan got into his stride she was lengths ahead. Not wishing to take advantage of his own horse, Mr. Newburger took the mare in and the roan, good gaited and on his stride, went by him as though he was hitched to a post. He shook the mare up with all his skill, but she was unable to get within speaking distance again.

post. He shook the mare up with all his skill, but she was unable to get within speaking distance again.

Mike Leonard jogged up to the clubhouse with King Egbert, 2:00%, his bay pacing gelding, hooked to a working cart, a hitch which did not appear to the liking of the horse, as he made mistakes frequently. He had quite a breezy argument with Charles Weiland's bay, that Trainer McBride sent a trial last week in 2:18, and was leading down from the bend to the point of rocks, when King Egbert showed his dislike for the cart by leaving his feet. Before he could be brought down again Weiland was out of reach. King Egbert had another brush against an unknown horse that could go fast for a quarter, but was all out at the end of that distance. He reminded one of the horse Dutch Rolla.

"Every time I drove Dutch Rolla a quarter of a mile," Mr. Leonard declares, "he wanted to stop and get up in the seat with me to rest."

C. R. Jarvis, with his old mare Mamie Taylor, that he has been balancing and getting into her old-time form, and Charles Kendall, with the hrown gelding McIvor, 2:27, had three rather lively brushes down to the bridges. McIvor was hooked to a heavy top buggy, which was quite a handicap, while Mamie Taylor pulled an up-to-date blice wagon. McIvor won the first time down. After that, however, the Jarvis mare had it all her own way. She made the pace so warm that McIvor broke badly and lost his chance of heading her. Mamie Taylor is somewhat of a wonder in her way. She was foaled in 1886 and was known as Emma Stantos. She is by Almont Wilkes out of Queen of Sco@.

Stantoa. She is by Almont Wilkes out of Queen of Scota.

Baylight, the green gelding that made a sensational appearance on the Speedway some months ago from New Jersey, showing his heels to almost all of the cracks, was driven by George Coleman yesterday, but did not appear to be just right. Mr. Kahn drove George Wallace through the stretches at a suffigait. George Young drove his bay gelding Dandy and Dr. Fuller of Brooklyn logged Piney to Dyckman street behind a bay mare hooked to a top buggy.

John Hoffman's bay horse became unmanageable somewhere near the bend, speeding down on account of the bit breaking and started on a run. He collided with James McCarthy's wagon, doing it considerable damage. The horse was finally stopped by Mounted Policeman Oscar Weiner, who daringly grabbed him by the check rein. Mr Hoffman was thrown out, but was not injured. The wagon was a complete wreck.

Death of Col. Cassidy, the Veteran Turfman. St. Louis, Ang. 5.-Col. William L. Cassidy, the well-known turfite, died at 3 o'clock this morning from Bright's disease. Col. Cassidy had been identified with the turf for many years, naturally drifting from a stockman to the ownership of fast horses. There was not a the ownership of fast horses. There was not a track in the country at which he was not a familiar figure. He owned and ran such horses as Tom Plunket, Blazes. Pinafore and Kingman, be ides several of lesser note. Of late years he had been devoting his attention to playing the races, having disposed of his string. His brother, Abner C, has been attentive to the affairs of Cassidy & Sons, of which the Colonel was a member. Last summer Col. cassidy got into trouble with the racing stewards at the Fair Grounds and was ruled off the track. He appealed to the courts and after a bitter fight the stewards were sustained. While a persistent player, the Colonel never closed the season a winner, but as his income was large this did not bother him. He was born in Callaway county, Mo., April 25, 1841.

AMATEUR BOXERS FOR ENGLAND. The New West Side A. C. After International

The international competition fever has spread to the amateur boxers and President W. M. Brittan of the New West Side A.C. yesterday outlined a plan for the wholesale vasion of England by a team from his organ-ization next year. The club has always made a feature of the manly art, and its representafives usually capture many of the events at the annual championships of the A. A. U. and letropolitan Association. W. Rodenbach and J. F. Mumford are two especially clever boxers. President Brittan intends to raise the standard of the club's boxers by a series of competitions at all weights to take place during the winter The first of these began on Saturday night with the trial bouts. Under this plan he expects to win the majority of events at the A. A. U. championships and thus be in a position to send a representative team abroad to compete at the amateur boxing championships of Engand, which are scheduled to take place in May.

and the amateur boxing championships of England, which are scheduled to take place in May. The absence of several of the champions in South Africa led to the abandonment of the meeting isst spring. Dut it is understood that the Amateur Roxing Association will run its bouts as usual next year.

With regard to the financial part of the enterprise President Brittan said that the club will run a fair about New Year's Day and that as the athletes have a large following among the residents of the West Side he has no doubt that all the money required will be obtained. Those who heard of the scheme yesterday looked favorably upon the ambition of the New West Siders to get a slice of the international honors. An athlete who is familiar with the styles of boxing in vogue here and in England predicts great success for the team, if the project goes through. He said that the get-there style of the Americans will prove a surprise to the English champions, who go in more for then fast, hard fighting.

If the men go they will be the first amateurs for the exploded theory of scientific sparring rather than fast, hard fighting.

If the men go they will be the first amateurs for the conclusions with the Englishmen at this game, though J. F. Scholes, the Canadian champion, went over last year and easily took the premier honors in the 125-pound class.

The final bouts for the novice classes of the Saturday. The following are left in after the first trials:

105-Pound Class C Hoffman, J. Casey, J. Fin netty
115-Pound Class-C. A. Dignon and Joe Mumford.
125-Pound Class-Jack Mahoney, W. McAvoy, J.
Harrahan, J. Motto and Frank Moran.
125-Pound Class-A. Seeman and P. Byrnes.
126-Pound Class-J. Coriey and A. J. Reuter.

SUNDAY ON THE DIAMOND.

McGinnity's Pitching Puzzles the Chicago -New York Easy for St. Louis. CHICAGO, Aug. 5. Pitcher McGinnity was in plendid form to-day and received grand support from his clubmates. As a result the Brooklyn champions scored a comparatively easy victory over the luckless Orphans. Taylor did the twirling for the home team and although he pitched fairly good ball the visitors made hits at the critical periods. The best individual work was done by Jones, Keeler, Dahlen and Cross for Brooklyn and Bradley for Chicago. The score:

CINCINNATI, Aug. 5.—The Cincinnatis, after losing four Sunday games to the Pittsburgs on their own lot, managed to win one to-day. The end came in a sensational way. Pittsburg needed two runs to ite in the ninth. With one out O'Brien and Wagner hit sharply to left. Steinfeldt then headed off Rittchey's grounder, darted back to the base and completed a force, while his rapid fire throw to Beckley headed off little Ritch. Wagner scored the Pirates' only run in a peculiar way. Petts and Steinfeldt both chased Ritchey's foul. They collided after Pettz had made the catch and both rolled to the ground, but Pettz held the sphere. Before he recovered from the shock, however, big "Hans" had scored. Score: CINCINNATI.

Cricket. The victory which the K. A. C. gained on Saturday advanced them to a tie with the Livingston F.C. for first place in the championship series of the Metropolitan District Cricket League. This makes the final rest ing place of the pennant a more open question than The Livingstons have only two more games to ever. The Livingstons have only two more games to play, both of which should prove hard struggles, while the Kniekerbockers have three unfinished matches. The result of the championship will probably depend upon the meeting of the two leading clubs, which will take place at Livingston on Aug. 18.

WINDERMERE, Ontario, Aug. 5 .- The canoeists at the meet of the American Canoe Association on Big Island, Lake Rosseau, passed Sunday quietly in camp. Former Commodore L. W. Seavey, of the Knicker-bocker Canoe Club of New York; Mrs. Seavey; H. S. Allen, of the Park Island Canoe Association of Trenton, N. J.; Vice Commodore, of the Atlantic division: Lewis H. May of New York; Rear Commodore of the Atlantic division: Arthur E. BUOMS DISTANCE RACING.

Desire Expressed to See Ethelbert and Voter Tried Out at One Mile-Attractive Programme for the Closing Days at Brighton Beach-Several Rich Stakes Due to Close. The popularity of long-distance racing is to longer in doubt among the thousands who were fortunate enough to witness the running of the Brighton Cup last Saturday and the other thousands who read about it and discussed the result yesterday. The event was pronounced on all sides as the greatest triumph of the Brighton Beach Association since it began its progressive policy by establishing the race four years ago. The idea was based on the soundest theories for the development of the thoroughbred and was designed as a check to the growing tendency of breeding horses for speed rather than endurance. It proved a costly and disheartening experiment for three years owing to the scarcity of horses keyed up to go such a route, but it demonstrated the fact that the situation called for such a move and owners and trainers gradually veered around to the same opinon. The result was a representative entry for Saturday's event and a good accept ance, all things considered. Every horse who went through the trying ordeal pulled up sound, despite the terrific pace at which the race was run. Imp barely touched her injured pastern, from which the bandages had been removed. The ugly wound was treated to an iodoform dressing before bugle call, and the rest was left to luck. Had she hit herself or let down again it might have ended her racing career, but fortunately she did neither, and is likely to remain a prominent factor to the end of the season as soon as the had leg has had a chance to heal. Ethelbert cooled out like a horse that could repeat on short notice, and Sidney Lucas was no stiffe at the finish than he had been before and during the race. Now that Ethelhert is cherry rine, it is the hope of horsemen that he will be seen out oftener. He has fairly won the crown as a stayer and it is now suggested that he should receive an early opportunity to prove his speed as well In the Metropolitan Handicap he went his mile in 1:41%, and ran in the same notch exactly at Gravesend against Jean Beraud. On Saturday he was lengths behind Imp at the end of the first mile in 1:41 3-5, but was all over her in the last mile, which was much faster.

This leads up to the question discussed yesterday as to how he would compare at a mile against Voter. A special sweepstakes at the distance would prove highly interesting as Voter's record of 1:38 is somewhat discounted by the fact that Decanter was so close to him. The Keene flyer can probably prove his figures if forced to it and it seems to be the opinion that Ethelbert would be just the right horse to do the forcing. Such a race would prove a big drawing card during the fall meeting at Sheepsheal Bay. During the recess in Metropolitan racing which sets in after Wednesday horsemen will receive an opportunity to mature their future plans. Many rich events for the fall season are due to close and racing secretaries will be kept busy. The Coney Island announc s three stakes for which entries are invited up to Aug. 14. These are the Woodcock, for two-year-olds, at five and a half furlongs on turf, the Oriole, for two-year-olds, over the last six furlongs of the new Futurity course, and the Inaugural Steeplechase, a handicap for four-year-olds and upward, over the short course. On Aug. 15 entries are due for a grand list of stakes to be decided under the auspices of the Brooklyn Jockey Club at Gravesend, and declarations and entries are also in order on the same date for the autumn and future meetings of the Westchester Racing Association. receive an opportunity to mature their future plans. Many rich events for the fall season

Only three more dates remain on the Brighton Beach schedule and the customary surprises may be looked for, as it is an open secret around the track that there are many rods in pickle with a view to winning out expenses before the curtain falls on Wednesday evening. Four stakes have yet to be decided and conditions for the overnight races are especially framed to let owners of selling platers earn their feed bills. In return big fields are expected and the card for this afernoon is a fair specime of what may be anticipated for the two succeeding days. The Milltown Stable's crack jumper, Challenger, heads the list with 168, having to conceed one pound to Dr. Catlett and two each to Gov. Griggs and The Batchelor. Buela, 160, and Dr. Elchberg, 157, are among the other prominent candidates in the heavyweight brigade, and the imposts are graded down to Sir Hubert. 132. The Chantilly is an event well worth winning as the conditions call for subscriptions of $35 each, $10 forfeit, with $750 added. A lot of new blood is engaged and the issue is awalted with the keenest interest by horsemen and racegoers who enloy the excitement incidental to a genuine contest over obstacles.

The current meeting at Saratoga promises to eclipse any heretofore held at the Springs. Horses are there this year apparently to race as well as recuperate and the results so far have been satisfactory to the promoters and their patrons. Crows Training for Middle States Regatte -O'Reagan Going to Paris.

SUCCESS OF THE BRIGHTON CUP Captains of the Harlem River boat clubs ave been at work in earnest during the pas week making plans for representation at the Middle States Regatta on Labor Day. David Brown, secretary of the Middle States Asso ciation, who was at the Atalanta house, dispelled the idea that the Harlem oarsmen would have matters all their own way on Labor Day. He has been notified that the Passalc B. C. will send a junior four gig and senior eight-oared rews, while as R. Milligan of Philadelphia suggested an intermediate pair-oared race for uture national regattas, it is expected that the Pennsylvania Barge Club and Vespers will send crews to the junior event at the Middle

The Lone Star B. C. held a junior four-oared gig race on Saturday afternoon. Three crews captain Second in command will be Vicestarted and after a close race the following Commodore August Belmont. He will be on won by ten feet: M. Katz, L. Solomon, E. Weil, S. Stern and L. Bachman, coxswain. board the racing yacht Mineola. Rear Com-The men will continue in training for the gig race at the Middle States. Capt. John Kemp of the Union B. C. is making special efforts o procure a good junior pair-oared crew Kelly and Stevens and Lenahan and Kennelly appear the most promising. They will row trial race this week and the winning pair will e entered for the Labor Day race. C. Nissen, the newly appointed captain of the Atalanta B. C., is working energetically to make a good showing in the winding up regattas. The following junior four-oared gig crew was on the river yesterday and did good work: J. J. Mulcahy, 1; J. J. Knox, 2; J. F. Hunt, 3; F. P. Kafka, stroke; C. A. Beeck, coxswain The plan at present is to have the men row at Hoboken, but they may be held in reserve for the more important race at the Middle States. Nissen has the following candidates trying to make the junior eight: P. H. Holnack, B. Cahill, C. H. Costello, J. T. Underhill, E. Shutes and C. Duffy. The blow to the aspirations of the Knickerbocker A. C. at the national regatta has greatly benefited the Atalantas. The "cherry diamond" will not be seen on the water after the Middle States Regatta, and five water after the Middle States Regatia, and five of the noted eight have joined the Atalanta. Three of them, B. Mercadante, L. de B. Handley and J. H. Hughes, wore the "A" in races before competing for the Knickerbockers, while Savage and Bentley, the old Cornell oursmen, will further strengthen the organization. Under the rules the men cannot row in the Middle States for the Atalantas, so four of them will make their last appearance with the "cherry diamond" as follows in the senior four-oared shell race: Bentley, stroke, Savage, 3; Hughes, 2; Handley, bow. The Atalanta will also have J. J. Mulcahy and F. P. Kafka in the junior pair-oared event. pair-oared event.

All the members of the Dauntless senior

All the members of the Dauntless senior eight have not yet returned from their vacations, but Dany Roach expects to have the crew in training before the end of the week. The Harlems are also trying to get up a senior eight. If they succeed it will make a grand field of five for the Middle States event. Meantime the Harlem's captain is devoting his attention to these three promising double crews: H. K. Vought and J. W. Maher, who are entered in the senior double gis race at Hoboken: Mark Davis and Steve Dolan for the intermediate, and J. F. Scannell and F. Hoffman in the junior. Fred Plaisted, who is coaching the Clifton B. C. junior four visited the Harlem house yesterday. The crew is stroked by McDougall formerly of the Argonaut R. C. of Toronto, while the other seats will be taken by Townsend, 3; Quigley, 2; Scofield, bow. Plaisted said that he would have an eight for the Middle States, made up of the above four with Scott, King, J. Stewart and B. Stewart.

above four with Scott, King, J. Stewart and B. Stewart.

John O'Reagan, who is a member of the Harlem and Metropolitan clubs, said good-by to a host of friends yesterday preparatory to sailing on the Deutschland next Wednesday en route for the international rowing races at Paris. O'Reagan, who is paying his own expenses, volunteered in a sportsmanlike manner to act as a substitute in case any of the Vesper crew, that will represent America, are incapacitated. His offer was accepted and Secretary Fortmeyer said before sailing that he would enter him as the much-needed substitute. O'Reagan has been training all the season, and will make a valuable man if wanted. He is a fine oarsman, and with W.

Many clubs have arranged regattas, open to members, to wind up the season. Among them are the Nonpareil R. C., Aug. 11; Waverly B. C., and Lone Star B. C., Aug. 25; Dauntless B. C., Sept. S. training rows daily from the Staten Island Boat Club at Livingston, and the shell is skimming over the Kills in sreat style. The make-up is Coonley, bow; M. Donaid, 2; Davey, 3; Miller, 4; Whitelaw, 5; Brown, 6; Hineken, 7; W. Donald, stroke. Speaking of his crew John Fitzpatrick, the club's coach, yesterday had this to say:

"I have not as yet got the crew to master the art of rowing a steady, even stroke, but the boys have done all they could do to improve and now do much better than they did a fortnight ago. I have changed the stroke and the style of the boat's riz, which has had a good effect. If they continue to improve in the same ratio I should not be surprised to see them cross the finish line first at the Middle States regatta in September. I have not been able to look up or observe a superior stroke to that I teach them. The great heave pushes the boat ahead between strokes, while the somewhat slow catch gives the men a chance to get in on the next with well-filled lungs."

The Staten Island Boat Club has a four in training for a match with the Clifton Rowing Club on Aug. 18, the losing crew to pay for a banner and the trophies. The Staten Island four in training are La Farge, bow; Capt. Cochran, 2; V. Garrett, 3, and T. Garrett, stroke.

New York Naval Reserves Win Disputed Cutter Sailing Race.

In a piping wind that held steady the greate part of the distance, the disputed cutter sailng race of the Naval Reserve Militia was resailed yesterday afternoon over a course of seven and one-half miles on the Sound off Larchmont. The trio of rival crews represented the First Naval Battailon, New York, from the First Naval Battalion, New York, from the old battleship New Hampshire; Naval Battalion of New Jersey, from the Portsmouth, and the Second Naval Battalion of Brooklyn. The race of a month ago was sailed with light winds, and while the Jerseymen won the Brooklyns entered a protest at the time, contending that the stakeboat drifted at one of the outer marks, which materially favored the winners. The boys from the New Hampshire experienced only little trouble yesterday in outsailing their rivals, winning by nearly 13 minutes over the Jersey men, who came trailing across the finish by seconds in advance of the Brooklynites. At the start the winners were a few minutes behind the Brooklyns in crossing the line, and about 30 seconds to the rear of the Jerseymen. The New York crew, however, lost no time in placing their bow up into the weather side of the course, and long before the first rounding point was reached they had drawn up even and passed the other crews.

The first leg of the course was from buoy No. 2 off Hen and Chickens Reef, at Larchmont, to Prospect Point, and the second leg to the gangway buoy, and thence return to start. On the first two legs it was a beat to windward.

On the way down from the course to the New Hampshire, moored off Whitestone, the winning crew and cutter were run into by the sloop Spare Time, near the spar buoy off Sand's Point. Fortunately the cutter's forestay was only damaged, which some of the crew repaired in short order. The personnel of the New York crew follows:

Chief Boatswain's Mate W. J. Zerega, coxswain; W. C. Shaw, T. S. Nelson, E. C. Cox. G. A. Conover, the old battleship New Hampshire; Naval Bat-E. A. Willard of the New York Yacht Club, Sportsman's Goods.

NEW YORK YACHT CLUB BOATS TO COMPETE OFF GLEN COVE TO-DAY.

unadron Will Gather in the Morning and Race in the Afternoon-The Finish Will Be at Huntington Bay-New Seventy-Footers Are all in Good Trim and Ready for the Contests. All the harbors at the western end of the Sound yesterday were filled with yachts that are to form the squadron of the New York Yacht Club and start on the annual cruise to the East to-day. Early this morning they will head for Glen Cove, the rendezvous of the fleet, and there the squadron will be formerly organized. Commodore Lewis Cass Ledyard is the senior flag officer of the fleet and his flag will fly from the fast schooner yacht Corons, better known as the Colonia. His chief aide on the Corona will be Robert Bacon, the fleet modore C. L. F. Robinson will sail on his imported vacht Hester. It is expected that the fleet will be 100 strong to-day and by the time Newport is reached there will be double that number of boats. At 11 o'clock a meeting of the vachtamen will be seld on the Corona and at this meeting the time of the start for the race will be decided upon. It is probable that the start will be made at 1 o'clock. The yachts that do not race will proceed to Huntington Bay, where they will anchor for the night. The races to-day are for three cups given by Commodore Ledyard for schooners in one class, sloops in one class and the 70-footers in racing trim.

The Regatta Committee has laid out three courses for to-day's race and the one selected will be signalled from the steamer Radha at the starting line. This line will be between a point on the Radha indicated by a white flas and a stakeboat one quarter of a mile north from Matinicock Point buoy. The finish will be between a similar point on the committee boat and a stakeboat one mile west from Eaton's Point light. The courses are:

Point light. The courses are:

No. 1, which will be indicated by the signal code flag for the letter C, a white triangle with a red bail, is from the starting line, ten miles east-northeast to and around a mark, then five miles west to and around another mark, then six and one-half miles east-southeast to the finish.

No. 2, which will be indicated by the flag for the letter D, a blue triangle with a white bail in the centre is from the starting line even and one-half miles east-northeast, half east, to and around a mark, then flye miles west to and around a mark, then flye miles west to and around a mark, then flye is the finish.

No. 3, which will be indicated by the flag for the letter D, a red triangle with a white bail in the centre, will be from the starting line eleven miles northeast by cast, half east, to and around a mark, then five and one-half miles east southeast, one eight east, to the finishing line. Each of these courses is twenty-one miles in length.

The marks will be floats, carrying a red flag

The marks will be floats, carrying a red flag with a white diagonal stripe, and on each course they must be left to port. The stakeboats will display the club ensign.

Vice-Commodore Belmont will be on board the Mineola in all her races, and the yacht will he handled as usual by Capt. Bob Wringe, who, although he gained all his experience who, although he gained all his experience as a skipper in English waters, is rapidly adapting himself to the conditions here. The other 70-footers were towed from Newport yesterday. The Yankee, which so far has divided the honors with the Mineola, will be handled by Herman B. Duryea, who by many is considered the best amateur in the country. On the Yankee will be Harry Payne Whitney, who is part owner of the boat with Mr. Duryea, and Capt. Woodbury Kane. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., will, as usual, sail the Virginia, and J. Fred Tams will act as chief adviser. Cornelius Vanderbilt will have with him on the Rainbow Newbury D. Lawton and Capt. Parker will have the wheel.

It is not necessary to enter a yacht for to-

will have the wheel.

It is not necessary to enter a yacht for today's races or for any of the squadron runs.

Any yacht that crosses the line with a racing number on her sail and carrying her private signal will have her time taken. Yachts not racing will fly the Americaa yacht ensign.

The program briefly is as follows:

Aug. 5, rendezvous at Glen Cove; races for the Commodore's cups; anchor in Huntington Bay; 7, run to Morris Cove; 5, run to New London; 9, run to New-port; 10, run to Vineyard Haren; 11, run, to Newport; 12 remain at anchor; 13, Astor cup races. All the yachts that are going to take part in the runs have received special preparations. The schooners Amorita, Latona, Crusader, Gevalia, Carlotta and Emeraid were hauled out at City Island and are now in fine shape. The Altair, Syce, Countess, Hobe, Jessica, Effort and Syconary were also got ready at fity Island and Sayonara were also got ready at City Island and the owners of these yachts think they will be faster now than at any time during the season. The Sachem, Fred T. Adams s schooner was hauled out at Port Jefferson. Ex-Commodore Adams will send his yacht to Glen Cove to-day. but he will not join the yacht until New London is reached. Is reached.

The Regatta Committee is composed of S. Nicholson Kane, chairman; Chester Griswold and W. Butler Duncan, Jr. For to-day's race they will be on board Adrian Iselin, Jr's., steamer Radha and during the squadrons runs they will be on the tugboat Edward Luckenback.

TO RACE FOR THE LIPTON TROPHY.

Sir Thomas Lipton last spring cabled to the New York Yacht Club offering to give $500 for a cup to be raced for by yachts owned by nembers of the club, for any class and under any conditions that the Regatta Committee might frame. The offer was accepted and commodore Ledyard cabled his thanks. The next day another cablegram was received from Sir Thomas raising the value of the cup to $1,000. Many yachtsmen thought that the valuable trophy would be raced for during the cruise this week, but the programme was arranged and no mention was made of the arranged and no mention was made of the Lipton cup.

The officers of the club and the Regatta Committee have talked the matter over and it has practically been decide to sail for this trophy in the fall. The annual sweepstakes of the club will be raced for on Sept. 11 off Sandy Hook. The Lipton cup will be a prize for the 70-footers and these yachts will be sent over the America's Cup course, fifteen miles to windward or leeward and return. This race should prove to be of unusual interest, and it is thought that the conditions and course will be particularly pleasing to the generous donor of the cup.
